

DAVE HELPS OUT

WYCOMBE Wanderers utility defender Dave Bullock has signed for Burnham to help them out of their current centre-half crisis. But there's no question of him leaving Loakes Park for he remains available to play whenever Wycombe want him.

Bullock, 30, who has been with Wycombe for five years, has had only six outings — two of them in friendlies — this season in which to keep match fit. So the move to Burnham benefits both parties — it gives Bullock a game and the club a top class defender.

The main cause of Burnham's shortage of central defenders is the disciplinary trouble of first choice Dave Hall, who started a 10 week suspension last week and will be out until December 31.

This is Hall's second 10 week ban since April following two sending-offs last season. With Mick Jolly and Martin James injured, the arrival of Bullock, who played against Forest Green on Saturday, was a timely boost.
